

We do not want our family time at home interrupted with calls from people wishing to sell us something we can purchase in a store -- should we want it. Nor do we want to be annoyed by people trying to sell subscriptions or asking for donations. We give generously when and where we choose without being hounded at home.